Dear Ari:

I am writing at this time to express my appreciation to you and to let you know how well our video surveillance system is working out. The system has made my life much less hectic; there is no need for me to run from location to location. It adds such a sense of security because I can just log on and feel like I'm there. In addition, I have also noticed a positive change in the attitude of my employees.

Thank you again for all your help and support.

Sincerely yours,

Alan Khan
